

ROE V. WADE?

NEVER HEARD OF IT!

VOTERS CHOICE

On Bush's second day in office, on the 28th anniversary of Roe v. Wade, he issued an executive memorandum reinstating the notorious global "gag" rule on international family planning programs. The "gag" rule prevents U.S. funds from going to international programs that use their own non-U.S. funds for abortion services, counseling, and lobbying. In issuing the ruling, Bush misleadingly assured that he was trying to prevent taxpayer funds from going to abortions. In fact, federal law has forbidden the use of U.S. taxpayer funds for abortion overseas since 1973.

Since then President Bush has made it clear in his continuous anti-abortion actions that curbing abortion rights is a top priority in the White House.

Get the U.S. out of our uterus!
